

Users also have the option to define the Virtual Bay that they wish to message

If multiple bays are being used by the user, their response will default to the Virtual Bay the message has been received from. This will default to the Users Assigned Virtual Bay unless they are responding to a message from another Virtual Bay.